

ABSTRACT

The present invention is an improved driver with an attached pivoting lever that provides additional torque for tightening and loosening connecting means such as screws, nuts and the like.